GLENDALE, LOS ANGELES COUNTY, CAL., FRIDAY, JUNE 3

BANK OF GLENDALE

Opened Its Doors in Temporary Quarters, on Glendale Avenue, Near Fourth Street, on Monday of This Week.

The Bank of Glendale opened its doors last Monday in temporary quarters in the frame building on Glendale avenue, near the corner of Fourth. This bank will occupy all the first floor of the Glendale avenue side of the new concrete business block now being erected by Mr. Elias Ayers, on the corner of Third street and Glendale avenue, which will probably be completed in about sixty days. The quarters now being used, however, are pleasant and commodious and are fitted up with a portion of the counter and other furnishings which will be used in the permanent bank building. Among the furnishings of the bank is a new Manganese steel safe, with time lock and other devices to render it burglar proof. The majority of the directors are well known citizens of Glendale, the full membership of the board being as follows: J. C. Kays, president; Dr. D. W. Hunt, vice-president; B. F. Patterson, J. H. Wells, J. H. Dodge, C. E. Thom and Wm. Mead. Mr. J. C. Shorer is secretary and cashier. The bank is a state institution capitalized at $25,000 in 250 shares and is authorized by its charter to carry on a general banking business, to loan money on any description of satisfactory security, and also to do a savings bank business. The stock is pretty well distributed among our citizens and but little of it remains unsubscribed. The policy of the bank will be within conservative lines, but an effort will be made to accommodate the citizens of the community generally, not only in the immediate vicinity but throughout this portion of the great San Fernando Valley, which is being so rapidly developed that its people are demanding all modern improvements and first-class conven-ces, and in this category a well conducted bank naturally heads the list.

The business of the bank since its opening has been entirely satisfactory to its promoters and promises a great success.

EAGLE ROCK.

A Very Pretty Wedding in the Foot-hill Town on Sunday Evening Last.

Standing upon a carpet of rose petals beneath a canopy of pink sweet peas and ferns, from which hung a wedding bell of white sweet peas and asparagus plumosis, Miss Susie Parker of Eagle Rock became the bride of Mr. Louis Luck of South Pasadena Sunday evening, June 25th, Rev. L. Jenkins of Los Angeles officiating. It was one of the most charmingly sweet and simple ceremonies that has graced this month of happiness. The bride was attired in a dainty gown of white silk and carried white, carnations and ferns, while a rich cluster of orange blossoms nestled in her dark tresses. Miss Edith Parker, sister of the bride and maid of honor, was charming in white mouselline de suoi and carried pink sweet peas. The bridegroom was attended by Hugh Cornwell as best man.

Miss Ruth Frackelton furnished the music, using the Lohengrin wedding march for the processional and Mendelssohn for the recessional. Only relatives and a few of the more intimate friends were present during the services, after which an informal reception was held and Mr. and Mrs. Luck went their way rejoicing, followed by a shower of rice and a chorus of good wishes.

FOURTH OF JULY.

Tropico Improvement Association to Celebrate Independence Day.

The Tropico Improvement Association intend celebrating the Fourth of July in a true and patriotic manner, if a grand display of pyrotechnics is productive of such. The Japanese colony has been asked to participate in the coming festivities.

The evening exercises will be conducted at the corner of Brand Boulevard and Palmer street, where seats are to be provided at a safe distance from the fireworks.

The committee in charge of the display of pyrotechnics is composed of William Malcolm, D. H. Imbler, A. L. Chandler, John Hobbs and W. A. Thompson. The public is invited to participate and make this Fourth one long to be remembered.

DISTRICT SCHOOL.

Glendale Union High School Commencement Exercises.

The residents of the entire High School district, including Glendale, Tropic, Burbank, Ivanhoe, Eagle Rock and La Crescenta have been of the qui vive the past month in anticipation of the commencement exercises of the Union High School which embraced three notable events.

The baccalaureate sermon was delivered Sunday evening, at I. O. O. F. Hall, by Rev. H. B. Gage. The choir of the Glendale Methodist Church rendered several musical selections, the invocation was pronounced by Rev. D. M. Stuart, pastor of the Tropic Presbyterian Church. Rev. Gage read the scripture selection and Dr. Hatch of Pittsburg offered prayer. Dr. Gage selected for his text the 12th verse of the 144th Psalm: "When our sons shall be as plants grown up in their youth; and our daughters as corner stones hewn after the fashion of a palace."

And delivered a most eloquent discourse, rich with good wholesome advice for not only the graduates but for all present.

Tuesday evening Class Day exercises were duly observed at the High School auditorium and proved one of the most interesting events of the week. The program opened by a glee song, "Revel of the Leaves" [Veazie] rendered by the High School chorus with Miss Kath Lee Duncan, pianist. This selection was so roundly applauded that Prof. Moyses was requested to repeat it at the graduating exercises Thursday evening.

The invocation was pronounced by Rev. C. R. Norton, pastor of the Glendale Methodist church.

Miss Lucie Adele Bettannier, a tall handsome brunette, then in a brief address presented in behalf of the graduating class a class memorial, to "The High School," which will ever occupy ample space in the auditorium, while the memory of those four girl graduates and their bright happy faces will live long in the hearts and memories of the faculty and pupils of the school.

At the opportune moment Prof. Moyses stepped forward and, snapping a cord that held a large banner of Old Glory, revealed a beautiful piece of statuary, "Winged Victory." The large audience was silent a moment, absorbing the beauty entire of the statuary, then broke forth in applause. Prof. Moyses, upon behalf of the school, accepted the class memorial and extended thanks in a short speech.

The violin solo, "Serenade," rendered by Clarence Peck, met with such a generous applause that Mr. Peck was obliged to respond to an encore. Miss Bertha Patterson, of the Junior Class, read the "Class Prophecy," in which a number of Seated under the motto, "Climb tho' the Rocks be Rugged;" and surrounded by thousands of bright hued buds and blossoms the four sweet girl graduates received their High School diplomas Thursday evening at the Auditorium.

Following the chorus, "Revel of the Leaves," by the students, and to the strains of a popular two-step march, executed by Miss Duncan, the graduates, Misses Lucie Adele Bettannier, Clara Gertrude Marshall, Olive Faith Sence and Lena May Cornwall, were seated on the platform, amidst the flowers and surrounded by their relatives and friends, whose faces were all aglow as their eyes rested on these four young girls, with rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes, so daintily attired in gowns of purest white. Surely, the motto, "Climb, tho' the Rocks be Rugged!" did not belong to them. The trail must have been bordered with flowers beautiful and many roses gay and fragrant.

Rev. D. M. Stuart offered prayer, after which Mrs. Katherine Beach rendered a piano solo, "Rondo," [Beethoven.]

The orations of the graduates comprised subjects pertaining to "King Arthur and His Round Table," in which each told the story most entertainingly. "The Growth of the Legends" was delivered by Miss Clara Gertrude Marshall. "The Coming of Arthur," Miss Lucie Adele Bettannier; "An Adventure of One of Arthur's Knights," Miss Olive Faith Sence; and "The Passing of Arthur," Miss Lena May Cornwall.

Rev. B. Fay Mills of Los Angeles delivered an able address on "Progress of Knowledge in the Nineteenth Century." Miss Edith Knox sang "A May Morning," after which Prof. George U. Moyses presented the class and, Hon. T. D. Kanouse, in a most eloquent address, presented the diplomas. A piano duet by Miss Nellie Stephens and Mrs. George U. Moyses closed the program, after which the Junior girls came forward and presented the many beautiful flowers to the graduates. There were so many, many flowers bestowed upon them that their many friends and admirers were obliged to wait until the flowers had been removed ere congratulations and greetings could be extended and exchanged.

Glendale Union High School Commencement Exercises.

The residents of the entire High School district, including Glendale, Tropic, Burbank, Ivanhoe, Eagle Rock and La Crescenta have been on the qui vive the past month in anticipation of the commencement exercises of the Union High School, which embraced three notable events.

The violin solo, "Serenade," rendered by Clarence Peck, met with such a generous applause that Mr. Peck was obliged to respond to an encore. Miss Bertha Patterson, of the Junior Class, read the "Class Prophecy," in which a number of local hits were made, and a still greater number of especially peculiar characteristics and unaccountable [?] likings were revealed. The bright witticisms and play in words were appreciated most heartily. Miss Lund rendered a vocal solo, "Serenta," [Fosti] in such a pleasing manner that she responded to an encore.

The "Class Will," by Miss Josephine Cook, still further revealed the idiosyncrasies of the four girl graduates. The first part of the program closed with a piano solo, "Rondo Brillante," [Morceles] by Miss Stephens.

A farce, "All in a Fog," was given by five of the Juniors of '05, and proved a most pleasing diversion, as each character was well sustained, by Roy Goode, Edwin Adams, Cover Melrose, Misses Alta Stone and Ruby Boutwick.

Seated under the motto, "Climb tho' the Rocks be Rugged;" and surrounded by thousands of bright hued buds and blossoms, the four sweet girl graduates received their High School diplomas Thursday evening at the Auditorium.

A WORD FOR THE DOG.

Signs point to the usual hard summer for the dogs of Los Angeles. War is to be made on them by the agents of the municipality and by citizens with a grievance. Ownership of a dog is to be regarded as presumptive evidence of evil intent.

This so-called crusade against the dog is due to a peculiar view of some things in daily life. A man pays $200 or $500 for a horse, and the world recognizes the horse as the property of the man who paid for him. A man pays $10 or $50, or $200 for a dog, and neither the agents of the municipality nor citizens with a grievance recognize the dog as property.

A horse or a cow, or a bear or a monkey is property to be protected by the laws, but a dog, no matter what his money value, is seldom the ward of the law and usually is the sport of it.

A man who defends his home from intrusion or who guards his horse or cow with a rifle is a good citizen. But a man who denies the right of a dog catcher to steal a dog, or who defends his dog as he would his horse, is a law breaker. It is inhuman to beat a horse; it is brutal to starve a monkey; it is ruffianism to throw a stone at a noisy parrot, but it is seldom reprehensible to kick another man's dog or to pursue and harry him to madness.

And yet the dog has been, since the world began, man's best four-legged friend. In all ages, among all races, thousands of dogs have proved their affection and loyalty to masters where a single one has been treacherous.

The literature of all nations is crowded with stories of the brave deeds of dogs, while a few lines recite all that is recorded to their discredit. And yet there are men who remember nothing to the dog's credit and treat the whole species as outcast.

The man who tortures his horse, or abuses a mule is punished under the laws for cruelty to animals. The man who abuses a dog is hardly ever even rebuked.

The laws of the state prescribe regulations for the decent and humane treatment of cattle, horses, sheep and hogs in course of shipment. The ordinances of the cities impose restrictions on dogs that would drive a horse or a hog to madness. The authorities of the city shut their eyes to cruelties practiced on dogs, which if practiced on hogs down at the stock yards would arouse public indignation.

Why this proscription of one of man's best friends? Because the exceptional dog bites a child, because an occasional dog has hydrophobia? This is not sufficient reason. Dogs run at will in many of the old world cities, and there is infinitely less talk of hydrophobia there than here. Horses have hydrophobia, but all horses are not put under the ban because one horse has the distemper.

It is right to guard children against possible danger from rabid dogs, but is it wrong to treat all dogs as if they were about to go mad. More dogs have sacrificed their lives in defending children from other animals than ever have bitten children, and dogs of all degrees should be treated in accordance with the rules of common sense.

It was all right for Mayor Weaver of Philadelphia to return those presents, but he should have returned them first rather than afterward.

It may come to be a serious question whether the life insurance companies of the future will regard their own officers as choice risks.

JAMES H. HYDE declares that he is "out of the Equitable for good." Most of the policyholders will be inclined to believe him if he is out.

JAPAN is taking pains to warn Russia that in the coming peace game the balk rule will be strictly enforced.

Not much is heard about "The Trail," which is to the Portland Exposition what the Midway was to Chicago and the Pike was to St. Louis. "The Trail" must be comparatively respectable.

SINCE the hoop skirt was mobbed in Pittsburg it has been content to hang in the bicycle's place under the stairway, but it is not without hope that some day the mob spirit will be crushed out in this country.

NO MATTER how widely people may differ with regard to all other points in the Equitable matter, there seems to be a general agreement that Mr. Alexander has a good excuse for being sick.

It seems to be in a fair way to realize the truth of the old saying that capital is timid, and remarkably so when it is not quite certain as to where it is coming from.

THE fellow that sits on the curb all day long, with only ambition enough to whittle a pine stick and finding fault with the town and everybody in it, don't be afraid of such a "man." He can do no harm.

MRS. JAMES JEFFRIES has decided for Mr. James Jeffries that he must retire absolutely from the practice of the profession of which he has been for so long a time an ornament, and it is greatly to the credit of Mr. James Jeffries that he is not disposed to question her decision.

THE business men of Glendale realize the benefits to be derived from having a home paper, a paper not afraid to stand for truth at all times and always ready to expose "graft" and lawlessness, and work for the good of the community in which it is published. THE NEWS is just such a paper.

EVERY person has a right to his or her opinion, but wild assertions generally come back to the ones who give utterance to same in a manner to cause he or she great humiliation. It is better to study a question before giving a final opinion. Don't be a knocker, but give due credit for everything that works for good to your community.

THE WEEKLY NEWS.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

Hold Very Interesting Meeting at I. O. O. F. Hall This Week.

Those members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club who were present at the meeting held this week at I. O. O. F. Hall enjoyed one of the most delightful and interesting as well as instructive programs that has been given at the club for some time past.

Mrs. F. G. Taylor, who is ever a charming person, presided with that gracious manner in which her own personality ever proves so delightful to all the members.

Mrs. Edgar Pack, in her own inimitable manner, gave the critic's report which sparkled with a number of clever witticisms, and yet proved most interesting and instructive. Under the subject of "Current Events," a number of bright talks on various subjects of interest occurring the past two weeks, were given by several of the fluent talkers of the club. The subject of the afternoon program, "German Musicians and Artists," was in charge of Mrs. A. L. Bryant, who read a well written paper on "German Musicians," which was keenly enjoyed by the club. Mozart, Haydn, Bach, Handel and others, and the history of their various compositions, proved a most interesting subject for an intensely enjoyable paper.

Mrs. Bryant interspersed her paper by rendering two German hymns, followed by two songs that occur in our Sabbath school singing books, in which the comparison was keenly appreciated.

Mrs. Amy Lorbeer read an excellent paper on "German Artists," in which the lives of several noted German artists were reviewed and their paintings described. Mrs. Lorbeer's paper was rendered even more interesting from the fact that she had most cleverly arranged a number of beautiful facsimiles of the paintings of a number of the most noted artists on the walls of the hall. Attention was called to the fact that a club magazine will be edited at the next meeting, the second Tuesday in July, and from a hint gently dropped by Mrs. Pack, it promises to be a truly literary gem. Mrs. Ellen Newcomb is the editress.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Parties handing in news items must write proper names plainly.

Mrs. J. R. Brown of Gallup, New Mex., visited with Mrs. John Mulder one day last week.

Rev. H. B. Gage will preach morning and evening at the Presbyterian church next Sunday.

FOR SALE—Five room new modern house; 150 ft. from Fourth st.; car line; $1600. Terms. BLACKBURN.

Messrs. J. M. Bauer, S. M. Galloway and Elias Ayers spent Thursday with Geo. F. Cook at Alpine Tavern.

A new buggy and single harness for sale. A right price will be made for cash. Inquire of T. O. Pierce at livery.

T. P. Moore, representing the Los Angeles Herald, was in Glendale the early part of the week in the interest of that paper.

F. J. Boughton of THE NEWS leaves tomorrow morning for Santa Barbara to be absent several days. He goes on business connected with the paper.

The all day sewing by the L. A. S. at the home of Mrs. S. Grant, Sixth and Verdugo, on Thursday, was a day much enjoyed, and much good work done.

FOR SALE—Two houses: one of 6 rooms; one 5 rooms. Will sell cheap and on easy terms. One block from electric line; one block from post-office. W. H. WITHAM. It

E. T. Byram and wife, Ruth Byram and Mrs. Geo. F. Cook of Oxford, Ohio, and Mrs. S. M. Galloway have returned from Catalina Island. They report a delightful time.

The second story of the Ayers building is now taking on a definite shape. Another week and the roof will be started.

Cecil Gilson is working hard for the Times Scholarship. He is a deserving boy and his friends are standing by him.

At a congregational meeting at the Presbyterian church on June 25th a call was extended to Rev. L. Lawrence Ward of Cleveland, O. It is expected that he will accept.

Interesting and instructive lectures on health and hygiene are given at the Sanitarium every Monday and Thursday evenings at 7:30. The residents of Glendale are cordially invited to attend. The subjects vary, covering a wide range of topics.

Miss C. Hickman, Tropico correspondent for THE NEWS, leaves in a few days for the Lewis and Clark Exposition at Portland, and after taking in the many good things there, will tour several of the western states. Miss Hickman expects to be absent about two months.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will give a social at I. O. O. F. Hall on Friday evening, June 30. A good program has been prepared, and refreshments will be served. Everybody is cordially invited. The evening will be in charge of Mrs. Dan Campbell. Admission, adults, 15c; children, 10c.

THE NEWS is informed from a reliable source that it will not be many months before Glendale will be connected with Pasadena by a trolley line, which is already surveyed from Pasadena via Eagle Rock, skirting the hills on through to Glendale, "looping the loop," as it were, from Pasadena to Los Angeles. Other good things are also in store for us.

G. F. Dewing of Verdugo called at THE NEWS office Wednesday and enlisted as a News subscriber. Mr. Dewing is one of Verdugo's substantial and progressive citizens and says THE NEWS is just what is needed to herald to the outside world the wonderful possibilities of this entire valley. Mr. Dewing predicts a large subscription list for THE NEWS in Verdugo.

Plans have been drawn by Benson & Shattuck for an elaborate building, which is to be used as a residence by a Mr. Gertson. The building is to occupy ground at the end of the North Glendale Electric road terminus, just at the base of the foothills. The architecture will be of the Swiss chalet style, and when the building is completed it will be one of the finest in the valley. Fifteen thousand dollars will be expended in constructing this magnificent residence, and when finished will act as a magnet to attract other rich investors. Work will be commenced as soon as plans and arrangements can be perfected. When wealthy investors are attracted to our midst and begin to erect modern homes, as the one described, it begins to look as though this section is to become what it should have been years ago, a thickly settled, progressive community. So you see, brother, if you are not in the front of the procession, you had better look sharp, else the band wagon will run over you sure.

A Pretty Marriage.

Here, as elsewhere, it is believed "that it is not good for man to be alone," hence marriages occur. An event of real interest in social life, occurred at the new home of Mr.

and Mrs. A. T. Varney, on Third and Verdugo streets, June 22nd, when Miss Agnes Varney was united in holy wedlock with Mr. Luellen Andrews, Rev. C. R. Norton officiating. The bride was presented by her father at the marriage altar, attended by Miss Minnie A. Cross as maid of honor, and Miss Mabel E. Young as bridesmaid.

Mr. Andrews was accompanied by Mr. P. Banning Young as groomsmen. The marriage service was performed under an arch of palms with a beautiful floral bell just above the heads of the contracting parties. The house was tastefully decorated and presented a very pleasing appearance. The young people are among the excellent of the land, and all wish for them a happy and successful journey through life.

A bountiful repast was provided, to which full justice was done by an appreciative company.

Many beautiful and useful presents were presented, which will go into the home life of these dear young people.

BURBANK BRIEFS.

A. Schelling, who has one of the loveliest homes in Burbank, has just returned from a two months' trip to the West Indies, where he investigated Cuba and the Isle of Pines as countries to live in. He says the climate there is fine and even all the year around, not as hot as generally is supposed. But on account of the mosquito plague, which he found almost insufferable in some places, he would not like to live there. On his way home he stopped for two weeks at Marietta Hot Springs, Riverside county, where his health was improved by using the mineral baths and drinking the celebrated hot mineral water of that famous resort.

Mr. Frey, the blacksmith, and his sister, Miss Frey, will leave next week for Oregon, where they expect to make their home. They will make the long journey by wagon, and will be accompanied as far as Santa Barbara by Mrs. Swain, who will visit friends and relatives in that place.

Mr. Cero Phoenix and family, who have been away from Burbank for some time, returned last week and expect to make their home with us again.

The Good Templars of Burbank will visit the I. O. G. T. lodge at Tropico this evening.

Mr. Evermayer and family, who have resided in Burbank about one year, will move to Garvanza next week.

Mrs. J. C. Oestegard is improving under the treatment of Dr. Hunt, of Glendale, and is now able to take a short drive every day.

Miss White entertained the graduating class of the Burbank school at her lovely home last Saturday evening. A most delightful time was spent in playing games, after which dainty refreshments were served. Those present were: Gladys Meyers, Grace Shelton, Hope Kughen, Jessie Hogan, Elizabeth Johnson, Ray Ludlow, Carl Kern, Albert Thedaker, Edgar White, Miss June Lutge, Mr. and Mrs. Ludlow, Mrs. McClure and Captain White.

W. Buffington and daughter, Miss Buffington, spent last week visiting friends in the city.

Last Monday evening a surprise party was given Mrs. Lydia Dufur in honor of her 69th birthday. With the exception of Mr. and Mrs. Graff, only relatives, about 30 in number, were present. A most enjoyable time was had. Mrs. Dufur was the recipient of many beautiful presents.

Mr. Samuel O. Wests and family, who recently came from Kansas, have rented the Potts place, and will soon move to their new home.

The surveying crew that has been running lines for the Burbank extension to the Glendale trolley line, have completed their survey and the result of their work will later be submitted to the promoters of extension, and the officials of the road. The survey was a temporary one, and was for the purpose of getting exact information in regard to the right-of-way and to find out just what is lacking. There is lacking at this time about three acres of right-of-way, and as the owners of these tracts are holding out for $1200 per acre for their land, it is easy to understand why there will be delay in building the road. The price asked is altogether out of proportion to the value of the land, and when it is further understood that the neighbors of these arbitrary parties will have to pay the price, whatever it may ultimately be, it is certainly a matter to cause surprise that these parties will not at least be reasonable, when so much of vital importance is at stake or their friends and neighbors.

Without doubt the close proximity of a trolley line connecting with Los Angeles will greatly enhance the value of the land of the parties who are holding out, and they are only asked to place a reasonable value on their property. From present prospects it looks as if the matter will eventually be settled in the courts, which means that these parties will only receive a just award after all. It would seem better that this matter be settled amicably, as a lawsuit only means engendering of hard feelings, delay and unnecessary expense.

A Glendale Sunset.

I saw a flame creep down the West,
Clouds and sky it did enfold—
Great crimson ships with shining flags
Sailed o'er a sea of gold—
As rapt I looked, each glowing ship
Slow changed its sails to purpling gray,
Then shrouded all the shining flags
And darkly sailed away.

Young and Frisky.

THE REVIEW ventures the assertion that Burbank has the oldest Justice of the Peace in the State, or for that matter, in the United States. Judge Gano Henry is the justice for this township and he was born in 1820, making him 85 years of age. Judge Henry was born and reared in Old Kentucky, and when asked how he accounted for his long and active life he replied, "I was raised in Kentucky and brought up on hog and hominy." The Judge's life has been one of constant activity, and when only 21 years of age was elected to the office of sheriff in one of the thickly populated counties of Kentucky, and his father had to qualify as bondman in the sum of $60,000. The Judge feels so young now that he declares he can walk from Burbank to Los Angeles in two hours' time. The last time he walked it was about two years ago. He tells of having heard Henry Clay make a speech when he, the Judge, was but a very small boy. Clay defended a cousin of the Judge's who had killed a man, and though it was a clear case of murder, so wonderful was Clay's persuasive eloquence that the jury acquitted the defendant. Judge Henry came to Burbank 20 years ago, and it is hoped that he may remain with us 20 years longer. Burbank Review.

Cherry Pie.

Stone the cherries. Line a pie plate with paste and brush over with the white of an egg to keep the juices from soaking in. Fill with the cherries and sprinkle over with sugar, using nearly three-quarters of a cup if the cherries are the common sour kind; use less if the finer kinds, but they will not make as good a pie as the sour variety. Dredge lightly with flour, cover with a rich paste rolled thin, after putting a rim of paste around the edge. Bake and dust over with powdered sugar. Serve when barely cold.

Coffee Custard.

Add one and one-half teaspoons of black coffee to two cups of milk and pour over the yolks of three eggs beaten light with three slightly rounded tablespoons of sugar. Strain, and pour into buttered custard cups and set in a moderate oven until firm in the center. Do not have the heat strong enough to boil the custards. Liked, serve the custards cold with a spoonful of meringue on each, made by beating the whites of the eggs with three tablespoons of powdered sugar.

GLENDALE SOCIETY NOTES.

Mrs. M. Ogden Ryan, who has been principal of the West Glendale school the past nine years resigned her position there, and accepted the principalship of the Glendale schools.

Mrs. Ryan has won this promotion and honor by her superior executive ability, efficiency, excellent discipline and above all her gentle, true and noble womanly qualities.

Mrs. Ryan, accompanied by her father, Hiram Ogden, and daughter, Miss Evelyn Ryan, departed last night for a two months' visit to Salt Lake City, Walla Walla, Portland and other northern points of interest.

Tuesday evening Mrs. Ryan entertained a coterie of friends, and pupils at her residence in "A" street. Music and games were enjoyed, and dainty refreshments served. Among the guests entertained were Misses Leonora Kimball and Nettie Shears and the two graduates of the West Glendale school, Richard Strine and Munroe Walton.

TROPICO SOCIETY NOTES.

One of the most delightful social events of last week, locally, was the banquet given at G. A. R. Hall Friday afternoon by the officers and members of N. P. Banks Woman's Relief Corps, complimentary to Mrs. A. W. Collins, Mrs. Sherman, Miss Ida M. Waite, members admitted recently to the organization, and to Mrs. D. H. Imbler and Miss Cora Hickman, charter members, who leave shortly on a three months' trip to various points of interest in Oregon and Washington.

Mrs. H. E. Gulvin, president of the corps, presided as toast mistress, in a most gracious manner. At the close of the event, as one of the brightest of the many pleasant affairs that occur under the auspices of N. P. Banks Corps.

The charming High School graduates, Misses Lucie Adele Bettamier, Clara Gertrude Marshall, Olive Faith Sence and Lena May Conwell, have been feted and dined most royally the past two weeks. One of the most auspicious as well as happy events, was the house party given at Ocean Park the latter part of last week, by the alumnae, Misses Faye Goode, Helen Bary, Nola Lyman and Grace Kughen, ably assisted by Misses Mary Edwards and Sue Barnwell, members of the High School faculty of last year. The festivities attendant upon this merry house party closed with a dinner, followed by a social hop.

The guests at dinner included Prof. George U. Moyses, Misses Ethel Hume Flood, Belle N. Hall, Edith M. Kendall and Nora L. Warner, the present faculty.

Quite a number of the society young people of Tropico and Glendale, chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Mason, attended the dance. Among those were Misses Ruby Borthwick and Blanche Davenport, Messrs. Clarence Peck, Will Fansette, Jay Rice, and Will Trimble.

The dance given at G. A. R. Hall Saturday evening was one of the pleasant social functions that have occurred recently in the Valley. The music was furnished by the Rice brothers' orchestra.

Society young people of Burbank, Eagle Rock, and Glendale were present, and "tripped the light fantastic toe" until the strains of "Home, Sweet Home" announced that the dance had closed.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ewing, of Yuma, Ariz., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Thompson.

Following officers were elected at the C. E. Society business meeting last Sunday night. President, Mr. Chas. Hezmahalch; vice-president, Jessie Patterson; recording secretary-treasurer, Samuel Fiske; chairman lookout committee, Mrs. J. M. Bauer; chairman missionary committee, Mary Williams; chairman prayer meeting committee, Ruth Byram. The social work of the Society is in the hands of executive committee. Mrs. Bankers is permanent and corresponding secretary.

Sociological Congresses.

During the months of July and August, says Fellowship, there will be held at Ocean Park, Cal., at the beautiful new resort, the Venice of America, a series of National Sociological Congresses on a scale never before attempted in America, except at the World's Parliament at Chicago in 1893. These will be known as the Venice Assembly, and will be under the general directorship of the Rev. Benjamin Fay Mills. While The Fellowship is not in immediate control of this movement, it goes without saying that Venice will be Fellowship headquarters, and we are sure that every member will be intensely interested to know of the great plans which are under way for the coming summer. There are to be nine different Congresses, each occupying one week. A great auditorium, seating three thousand people, is now in process of construction, and great religious meetings will be held in this building on each Sunday morning, the services to be conducted by the greatest divines of this country. On Sunday afternoon it is expected to have a great service of song on the beach or on the pier, led by a large trained chorus. Monday and Saturday are to be play-days. On every Monday evening there will be a great entertainment, lecture, drama or concert, by well-known artists, and every Saturday evening an entertainment by home talent. On Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings, from 10 to 12 a. m., will be held the sessions of the various congresses. Mr. Mills will deliver a course of daily addresses on the deepest spiritual themes, and Mrs. Mills will conduct some class-work in the study of Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Governor Pardee has been invited to preside at the California Congress, and to make an opening address on the Fourth of July, with a heart to heart talk with the people of California. Others who will be invited to speak are Senators Flint and Perkins, the Hon. Wm. E. Smythe and Secretary Metcalf. The Patriotic Congress will consider especially National and International interests. The President of the United States has been invited by an influential committee to be present, and strong hopes are entertained that he will be able to accept the invitation. Secretary Taft has been invited to speak upon "Our Colonial Problems," and the attendance of other speakers of the greatest prominence has been solicited. At the Philanthropic Congress there will be such speakers as Mr. John L. Whitman, of the Chicago Jail; Mrs. Florence Kelly, of the Consumers' League; Hon. Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of the Juvenile Court of Denver, and it is confidently expected that Miss Jane Adams will also deliver an address. The Economic Congress will discuss the burning questions of the day from an industrial and commercial standpoint. It is hoped to arrange debates on "The Expediency of Socialism" and "The Strength and Weakness of Trades Unionism" between the leaders of opposing parties. Mr. N. O. Nelson, of St. Louis, will speak on "The Golden Rule in Business." Mr. Clarence Darrow will deliver an address during the Reform Congress, and Miss Ida Tarbell, Senator La Follette, Mr. Thomas J. Lawson, and others, have been invited to be present. At the Educational Congress it is hoped to secure the attendance of President Booker T. Washington, President Nicholas Murray Butler, and other leaders along modern lines of education. Such speakers as Wm. T. Stead, Sir William Crooks, of London, Sir Oliver Lodge of Liverpool, the Rev. Minot J. Savage, the Rev. I. K. Funk, D. D., LL. D., of New York, Mr. Richard Hodgson, and others have been invited to be present for the Psychic Research Congress. It is hoped to secure for the Universal Peace Congress the most distinguished advocates of international arbitration and permanent peace, and for the Congress of Religions some of the great leaders of religious thought East and West. There will also be a Summer University of Arts, which will regular sessions, including the Cumnock School of Expression, a Modern Language School, a School of Music, a School of Ethics and a School of Nature Study for children.

POULTRY DEPARTMENT.
TROUGHS IN WINTER.

During the summer the waterfountains are the best utensils to employ for providing water to the fowls, but they should now be stored away and water given in wooden troughs. Fountains will break when water is frozen, but the troughs cannot be so easily injured, and can also be cleaned. The water trough or fountain is the most important utensil used by the poultryman, and demands daily attention, as it is the source from which all contagious diseases are spread among the members of the flock. The best method of providing water without incurring such risk is yet an unsolved problem, but cleanliness will prevent many diseases.

CHANGING FOOD IS DESIRABLE.

The greatest mistake made in feeding fowls is over-feeding. Hens are gorged with food which makes fat instead of providing those elements which go to make up the egg. Corn consists almost wholly of starch and oil, and while it is good food for fattening fowls, it is one of the worst of all foods for producing eggs. No one food contains all the needed elements and a mixture of several kinds should be constantly given. It is quite possible that the production of eggs may be largely increased by a truly scientific system of feeding, and every poultry breeder should make a study of such a system, not being alarmed at the idea of the scientific part of it, because science is nothing more than perfectly right and exact practice, and is nothing an ordinarily sensible person need be afraid of.

LAYING IN NOVEMBER.

Every hen on the farm should now be ready for laying. If any of them are beginning to moult or have not quite gotten over that process, they should be sent to market, as they will not lay during the whole winter, and it does not pay to give them room that should be provided for the laying hens. It is an old and oft repeated rule that if a hen does not begin to lay before cold weather sets in she will not begin till spring weather, and the rule has been confirmed. It is the great armies of non-laying hens that take away the profits of the flocks. They are retained because of their appearance, and give promise of soon beginning to lay, but it is delusive, as they simply postpone their work until spring. In their behalf it may be stated, however, that they begin early in the spring and do good service after they commence, but the point is, can the farmer afford to support them in idleness three months in order to have them do the most of their work at a time eggs are lower and the profits smaller?

SAVE THE FEATHERS.

Poultry feathers should be kept for stuffing pillows, sofa cushions and other home conveniences, even where it is not deemed worth while to sell them. Geese and duck feathers, being much more valuable than others, should always be preserved with care. Downy feathers of hens and turkeys serve a very good purpose, and unless you wish to make dust-ers of tail and wing feathers, the soft feathery portions of these may be stripped off the quill and added to the rest. Unless the cock is large, it will take some time to secure enough feathers to stuff even a cushion, and as they are gathered from time to time, they must be put into whole cotton bags, tied securely so that no moth millers can enter, and placed for a short time in a warm oven, to dry thoroughly. If hens are scalded before picking, the feathers can be dried in a tin pan, in a moderately warm stove oven. Remove all bits of skin, as they produce an unpleasant odor hard to get rid of. Feathers well cleaned answer very well for bolsters, chair and sofa cushions.

THE CHURCHES.

Methodist Episcopal Church, in I. O. F. Hall. Sabbath school, 9:45 a. m. Preaching, 11 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. Class meeting at noon. Epworth League service, Sabbath evening at 7:00. Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7:45. Everybody welcomed. C. R. Norton, pastor.

Cavalry Baptist Church, corner Third and L streets—Sunday school, 10 a. m. Preaching service, 11 a. m. Prayer meetings at homes of members during the week.

J. M. Banker, Church clerk. Presbyterian Church—Preaching service every Sabbath at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m. Sabbath school 10 to 11 a. m.

St. Mark's Episcopal Church—Services every Sunday at 11 a. m. Holy Communion first Sunday in each month. Sunday school at 10 a. m. Rev. George Eley, Rector.

The Case of Ju Toy.

Since the question of Chinese exclusion has assumed its present acute phase a good deal of attention has been paid to the Supreme Court's decision in the case of Ju Toy, the Chinaman who claims American citizenship by virtue of his birth in the United States after a visit to the celestial empire. Justice Brewer's vigorous dissenting opinion has been quoted and referred to with the warmest approval. One leading paper said that the court had converted the Chinese exclusion law into a law for the exclusion of Americans, and ex-Secretary Foster says that the decision "adds another to the long list of acts of an unfriendly class inflicted upon the Chinese." It is pointed to by traders with China as one of the facts that are responsible for the actual or proposed boycott of our goods in that immense market.

What was the issue in the case? What is the scope of the decision which Justice Brewer describes as "appalling?"

Ju Toy, a native-born citizen of the United States, having visited China and returned to San Francisco, was prevented from landing by the collector of the port under the exclusion law. He appealed to the Secretary of Commerce, setting up his citizenship—the law, of course, does not apply to citizens of any race or color—but his appeal was rejected. The immigration authorities were not convinced by his evidence that he was in fact a native-born citizen.

Thereupon he applied to the Federal District Court for a writ of habeas corpus and obtained a favorable decision, a referee reporting to the court that the petitioner was undoubtedly a citizen of the United States. From that judgment the immigration authorities appealed in their turn, and the Supreme Court reversed the district judge and upheld the action of the executive officers. On what ground? Simply on the ground that under the exclusion law the decision of the proper immigration officer is final. In other words, there could be no adjudication of the question of citizenship by the courts after the order of exclusion, no relief through the writ of habeas corpus. The petitioner demanded due process of law, but the court held that due process of law does not in every case involve a judicial trial.

Thus the case turned upon the meaning of "due process of law" and in effect sustained the exclusion law in making the decisions of the immigration officer final.

The wisdom, the expediency, of the provision was not passed on, and could not have been. Ex-Secretary Foster suggests that perhaps the court acted on the principle that the best way to secure repeal of a bad law is to enforce it strictly. Congress is at liberty to amend the law and give excluded aliens or citizens mistaken for aliens the right of appeal. Chicago Record-Herald.

The Growth of Temperance.

In connection with the new budget the British chancellor of the exchequer, Mr. Chamberlain, called attention last April to a gratifying change in the habit of the working classes that had its bearing on the country's financial situation. He had found that for the year 1904 the excise figures indicated a greatly decreased consumption of beer and spirits, and he inferred that "the majority of the people were finding better employment for the money that they used to spend in public houses."

Some London papers thought the chancellor was making large inductions from very slender data, though they admitted, on the basis of other evidence, that outdoor recreation and excursions were becoming more popular and reducing the patronage of the liquor shops. Now an official report dealing with the consumption of spirits in Great Britain corroborates Mr. Chamberlain's statement in a striking manner. Five years ago the total amount of spirits consumed was 48,025,000 gallons, whereas in the last fiscal year the total was 40,076,000 gallons.

The testimony of those engaged in the liquor trade emphasizes the significance of this decrease. In several London clubs an extraordinary falling off in the returns from spirits is reported, and the day of the bar and bar drinking is said to be over, "in the West End at any rate." Englishmen appear to have learned to prefer the German way of supplying refreshments, of serving food as well as drink at small tables and converting saloons into restaurants. That this substitution spells moderation and temperance, so far as the consumption of intoxicants is concerned, is a proposition no one will dispute. It also means a decided gain for order and decorum.

In the United States, as we know from various lines of evidence, the growth of temperance is steady and rapid. It is this progress that has enabled so many industries and corporations to make practically total abstinence a condition of employment in or with them.

A Foreign Invasion.

"No foreign power," says a prominent Justice, "would ever think of attempting an invasion of the United States."

That is prophecy, but it is well fortified by history and by a common sense view of the probabilities. The fact is that for nearly a century the country has been immune. Foreign powers did not seize their opportunity when it had a small navy and poorly fortified coasts. And now, quite irrespective of the question of army and navy, the thought of an invasion is absurd. What militant power of Europe would undertake to transport an army across the ocean to attack a nation of eighty millions, and a nation that is the wealthiest and most resourceful in the world?

Manifestly the greatest factors in our strength are not our armed forces, but our position and our unequalled productive power, which can be turned to any use. Where is the aggressor who would wantonly arouse such a giant?

But it is said that we now have islands to defend, and it is undoubtedly true that if we were engaged in a naval war they might be selected as points of attack. If, however, we stick to probabilities, the idea that has been advanced that we should go on and build up the biggest of navies is ridiculous. What nation wants to pick a quarrel with us because we have islands? What nation overlooks the insurance that lies in the capacity to build a score of navies?

The climax of absurdity is reached when these long naval programs are extolled in the name of the judicious and practical.

The following, taken from the Dickinson, North Dakota Press, will no doubt be of interest to readers of THE NEWS: "The case of G. R. Wannemacher vs. the Northern Pacific was given to the jury May 27th. The action was brought to recover $25,000 for injuries received in the Driscoll wreck last fall. The jury deliberated but a short time and returned a verdict for the defendant for $10,000—the amount originally asked by Mr. Wannemacher.

Burbank Commencement Exercises.

In the language of Superintendent of Schools Keppel, "moral and intellectual refinement is more to be desired than a brick block or an electric railroad." Burbank patrons of the public school coincide with Mr. Keppel in regard to this matter, and after having attended the commencement exercises at I. O. F. Hall on Tuesday evening they are thoroughly convinced that this town has the moral and intellectual refinement in the pupils and teachers of the public schools, and "the railroad will soon be here."

On Tuesday evening of this week some 500 of Burbank's citizens assembled at I. O. F. Hall and listened to the finest program ever given on any occasion in this place. Great credit is due the faculty for the arrangement and carrying out of the program, and the pupils reflected much credit upon their teachers and the school in the perfect manner in which they carried out the parts assigned to them.

The past year has been one of exceptional progress for the school, and the attendance has grown to such an extent that another department will be added for the next term and an additional teacher employed.

The number of boys enrolled the past school year was 106, and the number of girls 100, making a total attendance of 206; an increase over last year of 26 pupils. The largest class in the school's history graduated this year, the graduates being Gladys Meyers, Ray Ludlow, Carl Kern, Hope Kughen, Jessie Hogan, Carrie Hale, Esther Smith, Grace Shelton, Albert Thedaker, Lizzie Johnson and Ira Robison.

The class colors were green and white and the class flower, white carnation.

The entire program was most interesting and entertaining from beginning to end, the little tots reciting their pieces and singing their songs in a manner most pleasing. The flag drill by the first and second grades was especially pretty, and the song in Spanish by Charlie and Robert Bodwell brought down the house. Little Miss Beatrice Brown made a charming "Mother Goose" as she introduced her numerous family and recited the nursery rhymes and jingles, so dear to the heart of every child. The "Witches March" and "Broom Drill" was given by 21 girls, who were dressed in fantastic costumes, the following young ladies taking part: Hope Kughen, Elsie Ludlow, Christa Brown, Alpha Thedaker, Grace Shelton, Elizabeth Johnson, Nellie Harris, Fannie Shields, Evelyn Wood, Ethel Land, Clara Clark, Emma Belcher, Orpha Sanchcliff, Pauline Stern, Naomi Pomeroy, Susie Clugage, Maggie Pearson, Amy Oestegard, Laura Eyraud, Mabel Kohlhagan and Alice Lehman.

The instrumental music of the entire program was rendered by Misses Carrie Hale and Edna Crane, and was one of the most pleasing features of the exercises. The violin solo, so charmingly executed by Miss Grace Shelton, goes to show she was appropriately named class violinist. Miss Hope Kughen, as class historian, gave a very interesting history of the class from the time it entered school until it finished. Carl Kern, the class prophet, foretold a bright and happy future for the entire class.

Health and Beauty

Pure almond oil will not hurt the most delicate skin.

Massage should always be across the line of conformation.

A red face comes from indigestion, a poor circulation, or tight clothing.

Skin foods and creams are best applied at night, as the skin has then more time to absorb them.

A red, oily nose should be bathed with borax water and afterwards anointed with camphor water.

Diluted witch hazel will relieve inflamed eyes, especially where the inflammation is in the lids.

When massaging to plump the arms and throat, use cocoa butter; it is better and cheaper than cold cream.

If the hands would be kept in good condition do not put them in very hot water; it bakes and ruins the skin.

A simple hair tonic to make the hair grow, consist of five ounces of bay rum and two drachms tinct. of cantharides.

A pint of hot water drunk before each meal will improve the complexion and act as a general cleanser to the entire system.

A solution of salt and water is a common and efficacious remedy for sore throat, also for a sore and cankered mouth.

If the face is badly tanned from the summer winds, cut ripe cucumbers in strips and bind on the face, letting remain until dry. A white skin will be the result.

It is highly necessary that the cold cream be pure and contain no harmful ingredients. An impure cream will do great harm to both the skin and health.

Use pumice stone to remove calloused place on the fingers and palms of the hands. Cutting away the hard skin only makes the places harder and with uneven edges.

For a good astringent for enlarged pores take four ounces of distilled witch hazel and one drachm of boric acid. Spirits of camphor will often prove helpful in closing the pores.

A good hair tonic may be made as follows: one pint of water, one tablespoonful fine table salt, one drachm sulphate of quinine.

Shake well together and apply to the scalp night and morning.

To remove a foreign substance from the eye, close the lid and hold it down with the fingers. The irritation caused by the foreign substance will cause a flow of tears and wash the substance from the eye.

A delightful bath powder and one that will relieve excessive perspiration is made by the following recipe: Powdered starch, eight ounces; powdered orris root, two ounces; one drachm camphor. Reduce to a powder and put in small cheese-cloth bags.

To keep the hair in curl the following recipe will prove satisfactory: Take one ounce of borax, one drachm of gum arabic, and eight ounces of hot water. Dissolve the borax and gum in the water and then add one tablespoonful spirits of camphor.

The hair should naturally be oily and glossy; where the opposite is the case scalp massage should be given to stimulate the roots and encourage the flow of natural oil; olive oil should also be rubbed into the roots until the natural oil is restored.

One drachm of tinct. benzoin to four ounces of rose water is the right proportion for making a delightful milky preparation for the skin. The benzoin should be added a few drops at a time to keep from sordling, also where more benzoin is added than the above proportion, curdling is liable to result.

Many otherwise good skins are kept in poor condition by using hard water; this is not necessary, as a solution of borax will soften the water. Fill a bottle with warm water, add a teaspoonful of borax at a time until the water absorbs all it can in solution. Keep the bottle on the toilet table and add to the wash water.

Borax and water make a good wash for a sore mouth.

When walking breathe deeply, carrying the chest elevated and expanded.

prepared chalk and powdered orris root in equal parts make a good dentifrice.

Sage tea if used constantly will darken the hair. A cupful may be made at a time, steeping in the same manner ordinary tea is made.

For those who are tired of the high, full pompadour, try parting on the side, combing down slightly to the opposite side. This is becoming to most faces.

Massage to reduce flesh should be brisk and with a firm pressure, no creams or oils are used. The opposite treatment should be given where development is needed, the movements and kneading should be soft and gentle, always using creams with lanoline, oils, etc.

Physical culture will produce round, well-shaped arms. One set of exercises alone should not be used, this will develop only one or more muscles at the expense of the rest of the arm. Have the exercises arranged so every muscle is brought into use. Various exercises have been given from time to time in these columns. The punching bag will be found an excellent arm and chest developer.

The most graceful carriage of the hand is with the second and third fingers held slightly together; to acquire this carriage, practice the following exercise: Holding the second and third fingers together, curve them and the thumb intoward the palm of the hand until a perfect circle is formed, open slowly until the fingers and thumb are again straight. Practice the exercise until the fingers naturally assume the above carriage when the hand is in repose.

ETIQUETTE.

A gentleman acting as escort pays all fares, fees, etc., incidental to the trip.

A lady never socially calls upon or leaves her visiting card for a gentleman.

All letters of condolence should be answered, although the recipient may wait some weeks before replying.

An invitation to a church wedding requires no reply, unless a request to reply is engraved on the invitation.

While not obligatory, it is a pleasing custom to serve tea and some slight refreshment on the day at home.

The bride selects the colors to be worn by her maid of honor and the bridesmaids and they must yield unquestionably to her taste and wishes.

It is the height of ill manners to look over the shoulder of one who is reading a newspaper or book and endeavor to read from the same page.

Cake may be eaten with the fingers or with a fork. The majority of people prefer to use the fingers, breaking a small portion off at a time.

A gentleman never gives an entertainment for young ladies without providing a chaperon, usually an intimate friend of some of the ladies invited.

When paying calls in a strange city, the temporary address should be written on the card in the opposite corner from the permanent or home address.

When calling upon a friend visiting at a home where the hostess is unknown to you two cards must be left, one for the guest and one for the hostess.

A room used for dancing should be well ventilated and well lighted; the ventilation for health's sake and the lighting to enhance the effect of the jewels and dresses.

In boarding a street car or entering a carriage or bus, the gentleman permits the lady to precede him. On leaving the gentleman precedes in order to assist her as she alights.

In choosing sponsors for a child, two women and a man are usually chosen for a girl baby, and two men and a woman for a boy. In many cases only two sponsors are chosen, a man and a woman.

Friends may ask for an invitation for another friend, or a guest, to a reception or ball, in fact, to any social gathering where the number is not necessarily limited, as luncheons, dinners, card parties, etc.

At an evening wedding the groom wears evening dress; with that exception the evening wedding differs little from the day affair.

Worth Knowing

Hell is the truth seen too late.

All true love is founded on esteem.

Experience is the extract of suffering.

The fear of ill is worse than the ill we fear.

Flattery corrupts both giver and receiver.

A happy family is but an earlier heaven.

Fidelity is seven-tenths of business success.

Hatred does not cease by hatred, but only by love.

Poverty will always overtake idleness in a foot-race.

The incredulous are of all men the most credulous.

Dirt is not dirt, but only something in the wrong place.

Individuality is everywhere to be spared and respected.

He who purposely cheats his friend would cheat his God.

Greatness lies not in being strong, but in the right use of strength.

Faults of the head are punished in this world, those of the heart in another.

Gambling is the child of avarice, the brother of iniquity and the father of mischief.

The saddest thing that can befall a soul is when it loses faith in God and woman.

When a person is down in the world, an ounce of help is worth a pound of preaching.

If any man seek greatness let him forget greatness and ask for truth and he will find both.

An egotist is a man who talks so much about himself he doesn't give you time to talk about yourself.

Friendship is the only thing in the world concerning the usefulness of which all men are agreed.

Gold, like the sun which melts wax and hardens clay, expands great souls and contracts bad hearts.

Folly draws false conclusions from just principles; madness draws just conclusions from false principles.

It is a Japanese proverb that "A man takes a drink, then the drink takes a drink, then the next drink takes the man."

Every man's experience of today is that he was a fool yesterday and the day before. Tomorrow he will most likely be of the same opinion.

Fortune knocks at a man's door once in a lifetime, but in a good many cases the man is in a neighboring saloon and does not hear her.

Ideas go booming through the world louder than cannon. Thoughts are mightier than armies. Principles have achieved more victories than armies.

Energy will do anything that can be done in this world; and no talent, no circumstances, nor opportunities will make a two-legged man without it.

Enthusiasm is a virtue rarely met with in seasons of calm and unruffled prosperity. It flourishes in adversity, kindles in the home of danger, and awakens to deeds of renown.

Good humor is the health of the soul, sadness its poison.

The woman who holds her tongue is the hardest to understand.

Optimism is the sunshine which melts the shadows of despair.

The jealous man is suspicious even of his wife's store-bought hair.

It is not what you get but what you go for that makes the difference.

Few things cost less than encouragement, and fewer still are worth more.

No one is useless in this world who lightens the burden of some one else.

Somehow a bedroom in baby blue for a boy named "Skinny" is good for the blues.

Most of the lakes in the world are the result of trying to fit around pegs in square holes.

You cannot tell anything about the speed of an automobile from the noise it makes.

"In the bright lexicon of youth there is no such word as fail," does not apply to the pawn-broker.

A well-to-do man never refuses the pennies offered him in change. A well-to-do man is hard to do.

Let a man have an aim, a purpose, and opportunities to attain his end shall start forth like buds in the spring.

The girl who can't express her thoughts before marriage isn't always the one who sends them by freight afterwards.

There are many ways to make money, but only one way to save it, and that is by living on a little less than you earn.

The measure of respect you show to other people—scrubwoman, hodcarrier and all—is the measure of respect you feel for yourself.

All the facial massages ever devised won't keep the wrinkles out of the face half as well as an occasional massage of the mind.

The person who makes the acquaintance of the devil finds it hard to prevent the acquaintanceship from ripening into friendship.

Somehow a man cherishes his second crop of love letters more tenderly than his first; perhaps it was because it was harder to harvest.

If the wife who calls the doctor to see her sick husband would talk less of her own ailments the case wouldn't seem such a bad one to the M. D.

The woman who puts implicit faith in everybody is the one who should close both the front and back doors to peddlers and order her groceries by telephone.

The man who vows that he would "go to the ends of the world" for a certain woman doubtless has visions of many other women at the grand terminal.

Wise men and fools both have faults; the difference is that the follies of the fool are known to the world and hidden from himself; those of the wise man are known to himself but hidden from the world.

Every failure is a step to success; every detection of what is false directs us toward what is true; every trial exhausts some tempting form of error. Not only so, but scarcely any attempt is entirely a failure; scarcely any theory, the result of steady thought, is altogether false; no tempting form of error is without some charm derived from truth.

The man who continually worries over the problems of state and nation is generally the man who lets his wife worry over the problem of feeding the babies.

Just For Fun.

"This is tough luck," said Ham, mournfully, as he leaned over the side of the ark. "What's wrong now?" queried Shem. "Why, all this water to fish in," replied Shem, "and only two fishin' worms on board."

Mrs. Hayrix—This paper says they went an' took a lot uv Russian magazines.

A Scripture examination was being held recently in an English school, the lesson being Elijah offering up a sacrifice on Mount Carmel. As the children looked like good scholars, the inspector gave them a question, saying, "Now you have told me that Elijah put the bullock on the altar. Why did he put water round the altar?" The children looked amazed, except one little boy, who stood up and said: "Please, sir, to make the gravy."

Benevolent Old Gentleman [pointing a moral to village school children]—Now, why do I take all the trouble to leave my home and come over here and speak to you thus?" Can any boy tell me? Bright Child [innocently]—Please, sur, p'raps yeow loikes to 'ear yourself taak, sur.

Wesley and Women.

John Wesley's opinion of the place which should be occupied by women is given by Prof. C. T. Winchester in an article in the Century. In a tract on marriage, published late in life, Wesley says that all a wife's duties in life are comprised in two, viz: "First, that she must recognize herself as the inferior of her husband; and, second, that she must behave as such." But even in Wesley's day he had his troubles in finding a woman who would live up to his lofty ideals. In his "letters to his recalcitrant wife," we are told, he evinces a "certain long-suffering sense of superiority," which was, after all, his training of his wife, ineffective. One letter closes with the advice, "Be content to be a private, insignificant person, known and loved by God and me." Poor Wesley! He suffered sufficiently for his ignorance and conceit.

Borrowing Trouble.

"When I grow up," said little Ethel, with a dreamy, imaginative look, "I'm going to be a school teacher."

"Well, I'm going to be a mamma, and havI six children," said tiny Edna.

"Well, when they come to school to me I'm going to whip 'em, whip 'em, whip 'em."

"You mean thing!" exclaimed Edna, as the tears came into her eyes, "what have my poor children ever done to you?"

Mary and Willie, aged respectively six and four years, were sitting together in one large rocking chair near a window during a heavy thunder-storm.

As the lightning grew more vivid and the thunder more terrific, Mary, who sat nearest the open window, began to be greatly frightened, but her little brother very promptly said, "Let me sit on the thunder side, sister."

"Was ever anything more beautifully polite or truly chivalrous?"

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Last Sunday travel to Verdugo was unusually large.

Subscription to the new building fund of the M. E. church is being received.

Mr. W. S. Nelson recently purchased the lot just south of the Glendale livery stable.

Mrs. Wannamacher and daughter of Ontario are visiting friends in Glendale this week.

The prayer meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell this week was well attended and of real profit.

Miss Helen Stuart of Los Angeles was the guest of her friend, Miss Eulalie Hackman, the early part of the week.

The pastor, Rev. C. R. Norton, of the M. E. church, expects to visit his mother and the old home in Iowa during August.

The Epworth League cabinet held a very interesting business session at the home of the pastor on Tuesday evening. Some important work is planned.

The entertainment to be given by Mrs. Charles A. Weidenfeller on July 14 at Odd Fellows Hall in the interest of the M. E. church, will be one of the gala occasions of the season.

Mrs. Sarah Cook has plans completed and the ground work prepared for the construction of a modern cottage at Orange avenue and Fourth street. The cost of the same will be $2500.

L. A. Royce and wife of Chicago, Ill., are visiting their daughter, Mrs. R. A. Blackburn. Mr. Royce will locate in this neighborhood, as he is delighted with our town and thinks the climate here perfect.

Mr. Walton is putting up a number of beautiful and substantial residence houses at Stocker and Central avenue. Mr. Walton is of the progressive type of citizen that goes to make up a substantial and enterprising community.

Automobiling from Pasadena and Los Angeles to Glendale and vicinity must be good, judging from the large number of green, red and white "devils" that are seen on our streets daily. In fact, it is quite good exercise dodging these monster roadsters.

Miss Retta Trimble of Glendale entertained her sister, Mrs. G. McCulloch and son, Mac Robert of Fort Worth, Tex., and her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. B. Trimble and daughter, Marjorie of St. Louis, Mo., at Mount Lowe Sunday. A most delightful time was enjoyed by all.

An electric light plant is to be one of the new innovations for the Brand Boulevard tract.

Mrs. Lizzie McMartin and Mrs. Quick returned Tuesday from Redondo, where they had been visiting friends.

The W. F. M. S. of the M. E. church is planning to meet with the president, Mrs. Hendershott, in Pasadena on the second of July. The ladies of the society all expect to attend.

Roadmaster Quick is to commence oiling the San Fernando road between Tropico and the Brand pumping plant the first of next week. Some parts of this road are in very bad condition, and it is to be hoped plenty of oil will be put on where it will do the most good.

Jessie Vernon of Rivera, who is visiting her brother and mother at "Lomita Park," met with quite a painful accident on Friday evening of last week. She was cutting kindling and in some manner let the axe fall and cut her left hand quite severely, necessitating Dr. Chase taking twelve stitches in the hand. She is improving rapidly and the doctor thinks the immediate dressing of the wound will not leave a bad scar.

Services of the M. E. church were well attended both morning and evening. The Male Quartette rendered a beautiful selection at the morning service. Many expressed a grateful heart for the blessings of the day. Next Sabbath the pastor will preach on "What is that in thy hand," and "Where will you leave your glory." It is desired a large number will be present. There will be the announcement this week of the marriage of Mr. Llewellyn Andrews to Miss Agnes Varney, both of Verdugo.

The Pacific Electric Railway Company will, within the next few months, build a depot at the northeast corner of Fourth street and Brand Boulevard, just across the street from the High School building. A stipulation is incorporated in the deed to this corner property that a depot to cost not less than $3000 is to be built within one year from the time the property was deeded to the company. Six months of this time has already elapsed, so it is reasonable to suppose that construction will commence within a few months' time. Truly, things do seem to move out Glendale way.

It is expected the Glendale First National bank will open its doors for business, in its new bank building, corner Fourth street and Brand boulevard, about August 1st. This bank is organized under the National banking law, and will be a strong financial institution. It is capitalized at $25,000, paid up, and the directorate consists of L. C. Brand, president; H. W. Hellman of the Merchants' National bank of Los Angeles, W. H. Holliday of the same bank, and H. E. Huntington. Two strong banking institutions in a town of Glendale's population should be convincing argument to the prospective purchaser of real estate and to those who wish to embark in business here that Glendale is a safe place for investment. Wherever you find substantial banking institutions there also will be found a progressive people and a good place for business investment.

BURBANK BRIEFS.

C. B. Fischer has added new insurance signs to his office.

Mrs. Gilmore of Los Angeles is visiting her daughter Mrs. Curry.

J. R. Carhart of Fullerton visited Mr. Thomas Story last Friday.

Free coffee at Wood's store on July 15. Come in and let us serve you.

Rev. E. D. Chapin and wife visited Los Angeles Monday and Tuesday.

Don't forget the free coffee demonstration at the Burbank Department Store, Saturday July 15.

Wood carries a complete line of general merchandise and his coffee is certainly delicious. Come in July 15th and get all you can drink, free of charge.

C. B. Fischer sold on Saturday last lots 2 and 3, block 120, consisting of 22 1/2 acres, to Percy R. Wilson of Los Angeles. This property lies along 10th street, near Laurel. Consideration $4500.

C. E. Coon had his hand severely injured last Thursday. He was trying to start a gasoline engine, at his home, corner Verdugo Avenue and Second street, when his hand was caught in one of the cog wheels and severely lacerated. Although the wound is very painful it is not anticipated the injury will be permanent.

Mr. C. D. Ingraham is the owner of a very interesting relic of the Spanish American war. This relic is a piece of the first flag captured by the American navy from the Spanish navy. The flag was captured by the U. S. vessel Gloucester from the Spanish ship Argonauta in 1899. Mr. Ingraham is the owner of other valuable historical relics and has a pencil portrait of one of his ancestral relatives sketched over one hundred years ago. Mr. Ingraham has a knowledge of the early history of the San Fernando valley and is thoroughly posted on affairs in general.

A. O. Kendall of Chicago is visiting his nephew, Mr. George Wood, and family. Mr. Kendall has until recently been a member of the Chicago Board of Trade and found he could not continue his business in Chicago on account of his health failing. Mr. Kendall first came to Los Angeles, but later came out to Burbank and has greatly improved in health. Fact is, when he came here a week or so ago, he weighed 158 pounds, but after breathing our healthful air and feasting upon the good things of Mrs. Wood's culinary department, he now tips the scales at 170 pounds. No wonder Mr. Kendall thinks of locating here.

The Pacific Electric has just placed an order with the St. Louis car shops for seventy new broad gauge cars to be added to its lines running in and out of Los Angeles. This news will be well received by the public, which will, in a large measure, obviate so much standing in cars by passengers who travel over the different inter-urban lines, the Sunday travel particularly being heavy. With this improvement many will avail themselves of an outing for one day in the week at the beaches and other resorts, that otherwise would stay at home, rather than run the risk of standing during the entire trip.

Rev. Dwight C. Chapin, brother of the pastor, will preach both morning and evening in the Christian church, Sunday, July 2nd. Mr. Chapin's brother has just finished his post graduate course at Princeton University. It will be remembered he preached here about a year ago.
